

save food, spend less challenge

Ready to take your composting to the next level?

Did you know?

About one-third of the food collected for composting is leftovers or unspoiled food that could have been eaten.

Tossing food we could have eaten wastes the money we spent on it and the resources that went into making it.

Take action

Join the Save Food, Spend Less Challenge to improve your skills in cooking, planning, shopping, and storage.

Less wasted edible food, more time, money, and resources saved!

The challenge runs October 1-31.
